What Place in History!

The Herald publishes a long laudatory article on Thomas Jefferson It states that to-day Jefferson s place in history is that of one who produced the greatest benefits to his countrymen and mankind, and who occupies their hearts as his reward ! Forty years ago it was the fashion to say this of Jefferson but of late years he has been taking a very different place in history from that which was once assigned him by fond and admiring partisans Were it not remembered of him that he wrote the Declaration of Independence and purchased Louisiana he would now have no place at all in the estimation of his countrymen. For it is now an accepted national and historical fact that the doctrines promulgated by him for partisan purposes, in opposition to the administrations of Washington and the elder Adams, were the fundamental cause of the great rebellion By looking back over the route they have traversed the American people can clearly see the great inspiring causes of their political troubles They cannot shut their eyes to the great fact, which stands in our history with the prominence of a mountain rising from a plain, that Thomas Jefferson, for the sake of building up a party that would make him President, enunciated those positions and denationalizing State rights dogmas which led to the late attempt to overthrow the national government and divide the country. An adroit politician, he carried on all his schemes with the greatest secrecy and address; and it was not until long after his death that his political intrigues became fully known and their consequences realized Ever since the publication of his Works his countrymen have gradually been obtaining a better knowledge of him and his reputation has suffered in popular estimation as his secret actions and their motives have been disclosed to the world. Finally, the recent great rebellion, so clearly a consequence of his political teachings, has afforded overwhelming proof of his unsafeness as a political guide, and destroyed a large share of the veneration with which he was once regarded. No one will question the merits of some of his great achievements; but no one who has any real knowledge of our politics will at this day attempt to maintain that his whole career was distinguished by benefits conferred on the country. Indeed it is coming to be thought very generally that the evil consequences of his career overbalance the good For in no one has the maxim that "the evil which men do lives after them," been more fully illustrated than in the case of Thomas Jefferson He was the man who sowed the dragon's teeth in American soil, which sprang up as armed men. The distinctive political creed of which Jefferson was the father, will never obtain the ascendant in this country again His principles have been discarded, and to reaffirm them would be to renounce some of the greatest results of the great struggle for national unity and the supremacy of the national government.

The Slow Shilling.

We of the Pacific States don't care for trifles. Dimes are too small to interest us. We don't think it worth while to haggle about little things. In buying, the price of article, be it a few cents or even a few dollars more or less, is not often regarded. We buy the article anyway on the [illegible] principle we treat with [illegible] opportunities to earn small sums of money, to [illegible] slowly. We want quick returns and big profits. Many, if they cannot readily find pursuits in which they can engage with these results, prefer to remain idle. These notions are of long growth in these Pacific States and Territories. They spring from the "flush times" that followed the discovery and marvelous production of gold. But the "fatness of these pursy times," as Hamlet puts it, is being rapidly squeezed out. California is ascertaining that such inflated ideas will not do. Railroad connections with the East are teaching her that such supercilious contempt of dimes is not favorable to prosperity. The same lesson will be taught to us of Oregon. The industrial system of the Pacific slope must be reformed altogether. The era of greater activity, quick transactions and small profits must begin The little things which are totally disregarded in the business affairs of the Pacific States constitute nearly the whole profits of business at the East Close connection with the busy population of that section will introduce the same ways here. And, indeed, it would not hurt us to take a few lessons. For instance, our farmers and stock growers will be somewhat better off when they learn to milk their cows and make butter, instead of allowing the animals to run at large and simply rear calves. The whole State will be in a better condition, when both capital and labor, content with reasonable and steady profits like those obtained from [illegible] at the East, have learned to apply the wonderful resources of timber, soil and water power with which Oregon abounds to manufacturing purposes. But this cannot be done till we come down nearly to the Eastern basis And to this we must come before our industries develop and the era of our actual prosperity begins We must discard the system of the slow shilling

In General.

It is noticeable that the leaders in those "workingmen s movements" which are got up in opposition to the "tyranny of capital" are seldom themselves actual workingmen, but mischievous demagogues who seek political advancement, or the means of living in fussy idleness, by playing the part of petty demagogues and spouters. The society called the "Workingmen's Association" of East Portland is an illustrative example

The San Francisco Mining and Scientific Press (which, by the way, is an admirable paper and knows how to appreciate Oregon) does our State great credit when, in speaking of the recent State Fair, it calls attention to the vast number of articles under the head of "Ladies' Department," and draws therefrom the conclusion that women in our State "are not quite so scarce as they are in the sagebrush and that Oregon is ahead in the matter of homes, schools, growth of towns and villages and in laying, broad and promisingly, the foundations of a great State"

The Oregon City paper has established a 'Chinese Department" under control of a poor half witted fellow named Chenoweth, who complains that he is compelled to work for his daily bread though he finds time to spin out crack-brained essays by the yard, for publication We have heretofore refrained from noticing the poor simpleton, out of pity for the misfortune that has befallen his intellects, but as he is so very anxious for notoriety and keeps trying so persistently to bring himself before the public as a person of consequence we give him the benefit of this brief notice In justice to him however we should state that the incoherent maunderings in his department of the Enterprise are nearly or quite up to the standard of the leading editorials that appear in that paper

The Herald informs the American people that Thomas Jefferson was ' the father of the Constitution ' This information is exclusively to the Herald.' The received historical accounts of that period state that at the time the Constitution was formed Jefferson was in France All he had to do with the Constitution consisted merely in writing letters from Paris to his political adherents in Virginia opposing that instrument He always found fault with the Constitution until he became President, when his opposition to it was much modified That instrument created a national government and it was for this reason that Jefferson disliked it He was a State rights man and as such drew up that Democratic creed of rebellion and assault on the Constitution known as the resolutions of '98 which the secessionists laid hold of in 1861 to justify the dividing of the Union

THE WEST

The mercury at Fort Benton has already run down as low as ten degrees below zero

The total amount of coal that has been shipped from Nanaimo is about 300 000 tons One hundred and forty men are now employed in the mine

From the San Francisco papers we learn that parties are in the habit of collecting chapparal leaves in California and sending them to China where they are dried, packed and labeled as tea and sent back to this coast as choice brands of that article Many people have been made sick by using the spurious article

A Territorial Fair has been held at Utah It was a great success The exhibition of home manufactures was particularly interesting It consisted principally of wagons, carriages, cotton and woolen goods There was a fine display of fruit. That of wheat and corn was poor owing to the destruction by the grasshoppers

Some idea of the amount of money expended on the Pacific coast may be obtained from the following from the San Francisco Times Our local Insurance Companies received $310,127 premium in September, and those foreign companies which have agencies here, $67,430, in the same time Total—$377,557, or at the rate of $4,500,000 per annum

Samuel Hunt of Gold Hill, Nevada, while a resident of an Eastern State fifteen years ago, cut his foot on a piece of glass The wound soon healed and he never experienced any trouble from it until a short time ago, when a hard lump appeared on the top of the foot, which being opened disclosed a piece of glass a quarter of an inch in size

The San Francisco Call says that the Branch Mint in that city received recently, through the Bank of British North America, some seven boxes of silver coin, in the shape of Japanese itzaboos, amounting to nearly twenty thousand dollars They were received by the bank by the last steamer from China and Japan, and were turned over to the Mint to be converted into American half dollars.

The Oakland (Cal) News tells of a man who was bathing in San Antonio creek lately, dislocating his neck in an attempt to turn a somersault in the water His companions took him by the feet and ears, and raising him up and suddenly stretching him at full length between them, adjusted the disarranged vertebræ and restored him to the bosome of his delighted family. Wonderful surgery!

Says the Sacramento Record, According to all accounts, the Western Pacific Railroad is presenting an almost unexampled instance of success. Its business is already very large, and rapidly increasing Everywhere along its line of route the lands are being settled up, and from a hundred sources the streams of business flow in upon the road Last Thursday a hundred car loads of grain were taken by it into Alameda

The Overland Monthly for November has come to hand. Its contents are Fur Seals, A View of the National Capital, The Chinese Labor Problem, Ungathered, The Ice Caves of Washington Territory, Are our Public Schools a Failure?—No 3 Under Fire, Early Literature of Tobacco The Fortune in the Dairy; Ceylon; How I Converted my Cannibal, "Dead Broke," The Search for Fetam Anien, The Mountain Hearts Ease, Etc Current Literature.

We hear from Mr. Teās Carson, of Steilacoom one of Ritz's appointees in Washington Territory, that he (Carson) is a Republican We are glad to learn this, and willing to correct our former statement that Ritz's appointees are all Democrats. It puzzles us, however, to know how he happened to appoint a Republican on the Board, since we have it from undeniable authority that his appointments at Walla Walla are of a different character. As Mr. Carson avows himself a Republican, we hope Ritz will not make this a pretext for removing him

FRESHEST GLEANINGS

The house at which General Lee surrendered the Army of Northern Virginia to General Grant is advertised for sale

A fault has been discovered in the French cable at a point 800 miles from St Pierre, and 1,000 miles from France, which though not at present sufficient to prevent its working, is constantly growing worse, and will ultimately require the cable to be underrun all the way from one coast or the other to the spot where the fault exists This great and costly task is to be undertaken next summer

A Washington dispatch of the 17th October says The National Intelligencer newspaper changes hands again to-morrow It is said to night that hereafter it will be the organ of Senator Sprague, and that it will be used to disseminate the eccentric notions of that gentleman in reference to labor and finance, which he tried to explain in the Senate last winter His next friend and pet, Halstead, of New Jersey, is to conduct the new establishment.

Isham G Harris, who was Governor of Tennessee in secession times, recently made a speech at Nashville, in which he went over A Johnson's record in a manner more emphatic than elegant Those who heard him say that it was the most abusive, bitter tirade they ever heard He accused Johnson of every crime in the criminal code and dwelt with peculiar bitterness on his conduct during the struggle to trample the South under foot. And then for the South to turn round and honor the viper !

The fear of the rivalry of the Blacks entertained by the Rebels and Democrats is shown to be well founded by current history The negroes around Macon Ga, are now bringing into the city three thousand bales of cotton valued at $300 000 A population more thrifty industrious and prosperous cannot be found among the white residents around any city in the country The money thus obtained will go far toward establishing them in independent circumstances

The vote in the Methodist Episcopal Church on the question of lay delegation is reported by the New York Methodist as follows For lay delegation 140410 against 67,044 Majority for 73 36 Returns from twenty two conferences give the clerical vote on the question as stated For lay delegation 1 600 against 412 Majority for, 1 188 To carry the amendment it is necessary that it should receive the votes of three fourths of the members (clerical) of the annual conferences

The production of woolen goods has increased in this country one hundred and fifty per cent since 1860 while the population has advanced only thirty per cent. The tendency of this large manufacture, of course has been to cheapen prices The result has also been to crowd inferior goods out of market for people will buy the best goods they can within their means With such an enormous home production, and the aid of a tariff, imported goods have been kept comparatively in the back ground The annual value of home manufactures cannot be less than $175 000 000 In 1868 goods were imported to the amount of $32 409 759 The necessities of the home trade has been such as to render a large proportion of American goods the equal of foreign manufacture in quality The inferior producers have been driven to the wall, and ruined

[illegible] AND DUCROW.—A good deal of admiration has been expended upon feats of horsemanship of [illegible] and Ducrow; but we find in an exchange a story which, if true (and we suppose it must be true, or it wouldn't be in print) so far eclipses them that they are [illegible] a tumble-bug's ball to the noonday sun. The story goes thus: "A boy circus-rider performed the [illegible] feat of turning twenty-five consecutive somersaults [illegible] in Louisville the other day. A dispute [illegible] arisen between him and the manager as to [illegible] he was capable of turning, the latter promised [illegible] the horse, pad and bridle with which he performed [illegible] if he turned 25 times. After being introduced [illegible] the ring, and performing a number of very difficult [illegible] acts of horsemanship, he threw aside the [illegible] himself for the trial. Until he commenced [illegible] somersault the crowd remained quiet, [illegible] 14, 15, 16 and 17 were called the most intense [illegible] manifested, and when he had fairly accomplished [illegible] somersault the applause was deafening. [illegible] after his great act, without leaving the back [illegible] which he had fairly won, he successfully accomplished [illegible] perilous and difficult act of turning five [illegible] making thirty in all. The [illegible] were valued at $2,000."

[illegible] WASHINGTON COUNTY AND PORTLAND.—[illegible] of Saturday evening had an editorial [illegible] travel into Portland by way of the three [illegible] the city with Washington county, from [illegible] the following:

[illegible] From the Statesman of Saturday: We have [illegible] the W. W. Manufacturing Company are about [illegible] at the Factory. Cause: no wool to [illegible] San Francisco.

[illegible] Indian Agent Simpson has ordered the [illegible] Department to return home. Some of [illegible] are good laborers while at work, but if [illegible] to enforce its ordinances, let them be [illegible] here. We are sure every good citizen [illegible] for his prompt action the instant [illegible] called to the subject.

[illegible] Mr. W. H. Baker, of Waldo Hills, met [illegible] in a very sad manner. It seems [illegible] placed the little fellow on a horse [illegible] up to let him have a ride. The [illegible] in some way and ran away. [illegible] off, and becoming entangled in the [illegible] under the horse's feet; this made [illegible] beast perfectly furious, and before he [illegible] had dragged the unfortunate child [illegible] mangling his dead body in a frightful [illegible]

[illegible] Our morning contemporary [illegible] following facts in relation to the [illegible]: "The Sixth street, or receiving [illegible], has a capacity of 3,500,000 [illegible] the [illegible] of Stark and Front [illegible] from Caruther's creek, and also [illegible] on the river bank at the foot of [illegible] machinery, now finished and in working [illegible] throwing into this reservoir 600,- [illegible] in 24 hours. These pumps will not [illegible] extremely low water in the Balch [illegible]. The Fourth street reservoir is the [illegible] for the larger one, and also for the [illegible] Balch creek, which is brought to it through [illegible] cast iron mains, two and one-quarter [illegible]. The company have laid, up to this date, [illegible] from four to seven [illegible] and several miles of smaller dimensions [illegible] in work is about completed, [illegible] have on hand from 1,500 to 2,000 feet of [illegible] operations with in the [illegible]

[illegible].—The Willamette river has [illegible] been so low as now. At Albany, a [illegible] has been acquainted with the river for [illegible] says that he has not, within that [illegible] low. Considering the stage of water [illegible] for the enterprise of the P. T. Co., [illegible] boats running with such regularity. [illegible] when the steamships used to stick fast [illegible] upon Swan Island bar or the [illegible] of that river. Even at a higher stage [illegible] it has become almost a remarkable [illegible] of any vessel getting stuck in the [illegible] It is evident that the channel is now [illegible] at the very lowest stages [illegible]

[illegible] On Wednesday, Mr. Richardson, [illegible] and other parties, will offer, for sale [illegible] by one hundred and fifty feet, each, [illegible] to the city of Portland. These lots [illegible] table land, just east of Amos [illegible] overlooks almost the entire city [illegible] of the river, and commands a view [illegible] down as St. Johns. OREGON CITY SEMINARY.—The closing examinations of classes in this institution will take place on Thursday next, and the closing of the term will occur at noon on Friday.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Oriflamme sailed from San Francisco, for Portland, on Saturday, the 30th ult. She will arrive here, probably, to-morrow evening.

MOVING IN.—The renters of offices in the new brick of Messrs. Porter and Weigand, are already taking possession. The rooms are among the neatest in the city.

CURIOUS TO SEE.—A great many residents of this city visited the railroad across the river yesterday, curious to see how the work is getting along.

COMING.—As we go to press there are decided indications of a mist or drizzle, or something of that sort. The beautiful weather has weakened.

CHEAPER AND CHEAPER.—We mean crockery, glassware, coal oil, etc., at A. D. Shelby's. Read his advertisement and see what he says about it.

WATER MAINS.—Workmen are now engaged in excavating along Madison street, between Second and Third, for the laying of water mains.

MAINS TAPPED.—The water and gas mains on First street were tapped on Saturday to supply the pipes in the Odd Fellows' Hall.

EVERYBODY IS OUT SHOPPING these days, and it is just the time to get the Fall and Winter Styles. It is almost impossible to pass the splendid store of KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91, Front street, without being drawn in by the attraction of those charming New Suits, and the enormous piles of elegant clothing and fancy goods of every description and quality. They have, unquestionably, the largest stock and best assortment of goods that can be found in the city of Portland. Messrs. Kohn & Fishel bring their goods direct from New York, and sell as cheap as the cheapest.

Use KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP. It washes without rubbing. For sale by Allen & Lewis, Corbitt & McCleay, R. G. Sneath and all retailers.

POLITICAL ITEMS.

Ohio Republican papers appear to be unanimously of the opinion that the fusion Republican candidates elected to the Legislature from Hamilton county will vote for the Fifteenth Amendment.

The Republican party of California has been so demoralized by "rings" that it is impossible to get its members to the polls. In the late judicial election scarcely half the Republican vote was polled.

We have not yet seen in any of the Democratic country papers that elaborately constructed "Democratic pyramid" which usually makes its appearance just after the October election, with Ohio at the apex and Pennsylvania at the base.

The friends of Mr. Hendricks in Indiana are rather pleased than otherwise at the defeat of Pendleton in Ohio. A dispatch from Indianapolis in the Chicago Tribune says: The Hendricks men in this city do not propose to go into mourning over Pendleton's defeat, and some of them appear quite jubilant.

Some Washington correspondents of Democratic papers have telegraphed that Jefferson Davis, well known as a leader of a certain rebellion, expressed himself lately as favorable to the election of Judge Dent to the Governorship of Mississippi. Of course Jeff. can always be relied on to support Democratic candidates.

The New York World calls Pendleton's defeat "a relief" and "an advantage;" and says he was opposed in the New York Convention last year "from deep conviction that his peculiar financial views would not be indorsed by any State east of the Lakes and the Alleghanies." That opposition is now justified; for if he "cannot carry his own State now, it is not probable that he would have carried it last year had he been placed at the head of the Presidential ticket.'

The Dent Democrats of Mississippi nominated a colored man, Tom Sinclair, for Secretary of State, and advertised him to speak at about forty different places with Dent himself. But the programme is not carried out. Either Dent has become ashamed of his black associate (and we believe he has not, for he apologized the other day for not having been born black), or poor Tom's inability to discriminate between the office of Secretary of State and Stoker in the Capitol, has become painfully apparent. Poor dolorous Dent now leaves Tom hiding at home, and travels alone, with no shining ivory and long heels to lead the way. Bad for Dent.

A Nashville dispatch says: The election of Senator gives satisfaction to all but Johnson's most ardent friends. Probably a better selection could not have been made. Cooper is one of the ablest lawyers of Tennessee, and was one of the military Governors Johnson appointed to the Judiciary, and was commended for his integrity as an officer by Brownlow, in his message to the Legislature. He gave a decision in the Sherbrooke Ridley case now pending to the United Supreme Court, that our franchise law is unconstitutional. On retiring from the bench he became a Professor of the Lebanon Law School. Resigning he removed to Nashville and is now Senator from Davidson. His election throws the last shovelfull of earth on repudiation in Tennessee.

Harmony Lodge No. 12, F. & A. M.—The officers and members are notified to meet at the Lodge Room to-day at 2 o'clock for the purpose of attending the funeral of our deceased brother, Henry McAllister. Members of Willamette and sojourning brothers are invited to attend.

Vice President Colfax on Mormonism Plain Talk to the Saints

Vice President Colfax having been invited to speak during his late visit to Salt Lake City, embraced the opportunity offered to express his views on Mormonism in general and the polygamy practices of the Saints in particular. The substance of his remarks are found reported in the Chicago Tribune of October 14th. He said:

I was thinking this evening of the time when I was in your city, four years ago last June, with my traveling companions Gov. Bross and Mr. Bowles. We had been travelling over the arid and boundless plains, the deserts and alkali valleys, that lie between this city and the Missouri river, and, after passing through the wild mountain scenery that lies east of this valley, on emerging from the canyon one morning we looked down for the first time in our lives on the City of Salt Lake. And as it burst upon our view, I thought it a beauteous place—filled as its gardens were with fruit trees and shrubbery, its Jordan shining like a silver thread across the valley—seeming like another Palmyra in the desert. And when, after visiting Camp Douglas and the faithful soldiers there, we reached the city with its broad streets and rippling streams in their pebbly beds, I did not wonder at the enthusiasm manifested by those who had been here before us. We were received at that time with great courtesy by your city authorities and were the recipients of a great deal of kindness from Mormons and Gentiles alike during our stay with you. I have again found occasion to travel to the Pacific slope. With two of my old companions of the stage coach and our families, I have made the tour of Oregon and California, strictly in a private capacity, and with the object of informing myself as to the resources and wants of all parts of the country, as I think public men should do. We have been treated with the utmost kindness everywhere. Returning to your country from the West on the railroad, I was met by a committee of your City Council, and kindly tendered the freedom of the city. Having declined, as far as possible, all formal receptions, and visiting you in an unofficial capacity, I thought it best to decline your generous offer, with an expression of my thanks. Although fresh from the glorious scenes of California, her lovely valleys and gigantic mountains, I find your country and city, on my return, as beautiful as ever. I was glad also to be here during your County Fair. I will not stop to tell you how gratified I was at the sight of your cotton and woolen fabrics, fine as are produced anywhere, nor how much I was interested in your silk productions and various manufactured articles on exhibition in your Fair. I was pleased to see those products of industry in your midst, and the evidences of progress in the establishment of domestic manufactures. The rich display of fruits and grain, the products of your soil, excited my admiration. I have enjoyed meeting and associating with many friends here, but this great pleasure has been not unmingled with pain, and I feel it imperative upon me to give expression upon one point, to the views and sentiments which I believe are held by the great majority of the American people. It is better for those who are in public life to talk face to face with the citizens of this great Republic, as an American citizen should talk, and as such I stand before you to-night. I know that many of you differ with me on the pointed issue between you and the Government. I have been to your Tabernacle, your Bowery and ward assemblies, and have there listened patiently to the expounding of views with which I have no sympathy. But I recognize your right to express such views as you choose, and I claim the same right. It is in no spirit of unkindness, but [illegible] from a sense of duty, that I refer to this unpleasant subject, that I speak freely as an American citizen on the soil of the Republic, under its flag, and within the bounds of its authority. I believe you will listen to me as patiently as I have to you. It is defying and violating this law of the United States, obligatory on all the Territories, which makes the heart of the people cold towards you, which frustrates your endeavors to become a State of the Union.

We believe in this [illegible] Republic of the United States of America. It is a vast continental domain, stretching from ocean to ocean, its resources varied and magnificent beyond conception. Still in the infancy of its development, with immense parts of it nearly settled, its population is 40,000,000, and its institutions are commensurate in grandeur with [illegible]. The civil and religious rights of individuals are inalienably guaranteed by the Constitution, sublime in its simplicity. The Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof constitute the shield of all our liberties, the supreme law of the land, from which there is no appeal save to the power that [illegible]. I know that many of you differ with me. [illegible] the constitutionality of that law of Congress which in Utah is ignored [illegible]. That is a question for the courts to decide, and until they pronounce a law unconstitutional, [illegible]. You tell me that you have the authority of revelation for this [illegible], and of a new revelation, contrary to [illegible] the Book of Mormon to which I have alluded. I reply that you have no right to overthrow and defy the laws by assumed revelations. If one should have a revelation to-night declaring that the strong should seize and possess the places of the weak, you would surely have none of it [illegible]. If there was another revelation that the talented and the rich should take the wives of the ignorant and the poor, you would certainly trample on it. If the Hindoos should come hither and insist on practising what they regard as a religious rite—the burning of widows on the funeral piles of their husbands—you would scout such a revelation and such a religion. It is the province of constitutions and laws to restrain the mass for the benefit of the individual, and the individual for the benefit of the mass, and those constitutions and laws are wisest and best which secure to the individual the largest independence consistent with the welfare of all. Without some restraint upon individual impulse and will, society must be impossible. You yourselves acknowledge this in the enactment of laws restraining the liberty of the citizen. Suppose some one should attempt as the right of an American citizen to follow his trade, to establish a bone boiling establishment in close contiguity with this hotel, where we have been entertained so hospitably, or a powder mill in the midst of your city, or to multiply saloons and places of low resort, against law and without license—your corporate authorities would restrain him or them of their liberty to the extent that its exercise was an imposition on others. So American law prohibits the murderous rite of the Hindoos [illegible] requires the widow to consume herself on the funeral pile of her husband. So American law [illegible] also a man from bigamy [illegible] regarding it [illegible] upon the rights of the individual to do as he pleases for the good of the whole. The [illegible] law of Congress applies equally to all the Territories. It should be obeyed in Utah Territory as elsewhere. This is a [illegible] of law, and this law is in keeping with the civilization and spirit of the age, with the sentiment of the heart, with the instincts and traditions of our race. I have heard the story of your persecutions when I was here four years ago and now, and let me say that I have no sympathy with those who persecute and proscribe on account of religious faith. Every impulse of my nature is against it; my influence, such as it is, has ever been and ever will be exerted against the spirit of it, and any possible manifestation of it. But for the last 12 or 15 years you cannot justly complain of persecution on the part of the people or government. On the contrary, there is no greater example of toleration on record than that of the dealing of the American people with this thing, which would be tolerated nowhere else in the civilized world.

There is only one thing wanting to make your country one of the prosperous States of the Union. It is obedience to law. When in company with the gentlemen who are with me, I first caught sight of your city four years ago, I said and repeat it now, that under wise management and prudent counsels it could become the great city of the interior. It has the country all around it boundless in resources as in extent, stretching away for hundreds of miles in every direction—it need have no competitor, no rival, as the headquarters of this vast region. What you need for this is capital, population, enterprise, but above all, capital. You are notably deficient in capital as compared with your population. Encourage every branch of manufacture, welcome instead of repelling competition, invite money for investment from the crowded cities of the East, establishing and creating business, stimulating enterprise, employing your abundant labor to advantage, developing all your resources. Intolerance is the worst policy you can pursue. Isolation and proscription of those who differ with you in faith and practice is not only suicidal, it is no longer possible, the Pacific Railroad having brought you in juxtaposition with the living, throbbing world of to-day and the civilization of the American continent. If you turn your backs on all the active, creative forces of the time; if you repel capital, competition, development, they will go elsewhere, for they will find a place. Rivals will spring up in close proximity. They will increase and you will decrease. Your destiny is in your hands. Will you mould it wisely and well? The answer is with you.

I have but a word in conclusion. With a heart full of gratitude for the hospitality received from many citizens here both on the occasion of my former and present visit, again urging you to obedience to the nation's law, and begging you to believe that I have spoken the truth to you, and kindly and to your best interest, I bid you good night and good bye.

The band struck up Hail to the Chief, which could scarcely be heard amid the tumult of applause by the Gentiles present.

HOAGLAND'S

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It runs on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.
